Council Adopts $10.7 Million Budget Adds 3 Police, Part Time Recycler

by Diane Oberg

City Council, at its May 26 regular meeting, gave final approval to Greenbelt's budget for fiscal year 1993 (FY93), which begins July 1. There will be no changes to the city's property tax rate, although increased assessments will raise many citizens tax payments.

At the final budget work session on May 20, City Manager Dan Hobbs greeted council with the news that he now expects city revenues to total $10,774 million, up $110,900 from the initial budget estimate. By the end of the night, council had spent all but $1,000 of that amount, with expenditures totaling $10,773 million.

The additional money will fund a part-time administrative assistant for recycling, additional contributions to recreation groups and Greenbelt Access Television, three additional police officers, additional consulting services and Greenbelt CARES, a part-time staffer for Schrom Hills Park, and a raise for the city manager.

Expenditures

The budgeted expenditures of $10,773 million represent a 5.6% increase over estimated expenditures in the current fiscal year (4.4% more than the originally budgeted expenditures for FY92). Other than funding some previously unfunded requests with the increased revenue estimates, council made very few changes to the first budget proposed by City Manager Daniel Hobbs.

Personnel

The new hires proposed by Hobbs were included in the approved budget. These include filling the fulltime CARES position, and hiring additional part-time recreation staff for the indoor pool and the self-supporting programs.

Council added several other positions. Three new police officers will join the city staff. One, to be funded on a 50-50 basis by the city and a state grant, will concentrate on narcotics enforcement. Two others will operate out of a substation in Beltway Plaza with the costs split between the city and the owners of Beltway Plaza and Springhill Lake Apartments, if the city and the property owners can reach agreement on a proposed public-private partnership. The budget provides for starting this program in January.

Another position added by council was a part-time administrative assistant for the public works department. At the public will receive a $4,000 increase to $75,000 (5.6%).

The budget also provides for increases in pension contributions for newer employees, except police officers, to reduce inequalities between the various employee retirement plans.

Contributions

Council increased the city's contributions to recreation groups by $7,400 over the $31,000 recommended by Hobbs. (Contributions to these groups totaled $31,000 in the current fiscal year.) The largest in-hearing on May 18, eight citizens, six of them members of the current or previous recycling committees, asked council to fill this position. At the budget work session, Hobbs argued for "doing it right," filling the full-time administrative assistant position, left vacant for budget reasons, with this person spending one-third to one-half of the work week on recycling.

The council members, however, wanted someone whose only responsibility would be recycling with most council members going so far as to chide Hobbs at the final adoption when he referred to this person's responsibilities being "almost" exclusively related to recycling.

Pay

City employees will receive a 2.75% cost of living adjustment in January, provided that the city's revenues do not fall below projections. Hobbs, whose pay is set separately by council, creases went to the Boy and Girls Club ($13,000, up from $7,200 in FY92), to pay for new uniforms and transportation to games, and $4,000 to fund the Greenbelt Double Dutch Club's trip to the National Championships in Ohio.

Revenues

Originally, the city expected to receive $10,663 million. Several changes combined to produce the $110,000 increase. City property tax revenues were increased $66,500 when the city

Schrom Hills Park Officially Opens Sunday, Greenbelt Day

by Virginia Beauchamp

Greenbelt's newest park will be officially opened to the public on Sunday, June 7, at a Family Day program scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. This new recreation area in Greenbelt East, named Schrom Hills Park after the family farm originally located on that site, is situated east of Hanover Parkway. For those entering the Parkway from Greenbelt Rd., the park entrance is just beyond and across the street from the Hunting Ridge development. The park will be formally dedicated by the city council at 1:30 p.m.

An afternoon of activities will add to the festivities, starting with Bob Devlin's "One Man Band" show during the half hour before the formal dedication. Clowns, refreshments, and games for the entire family will also be featured. Children's playground equipment, already installed, will no doubt see lots of use. Because seating will be scarce, those attending are invited to bring their own folding chairs or blankets to better enjoy the day's events.

Following the dedication—expected to take about 15 minutes—the city council will conduct a second formal program in honor of Greenbelt Day, the city's 55th anniversary of its formal incorporation as a Maryland municipality. Immediately thereafter a presentation will be made to this year's winner of the David R. S. Craig Memorial college scholarship.

The Greenbelt Concert Band of Prince Georges County, led by John DelHomme, will then provide music from 2 to 3 p.m., followed by a Double Dutch team exhibition. Family Day activities will officially close at 4 p.m.

Other Weekend Events

The Sunday program will culminate a weekend of special events in honor of Greenbelt Day. On Saturday evening the Monumental Brass Ensemble, a nationally recognized group, will perform in a free concert at 8 p.m. outside the municipal swimming pool. Sponsored jointly by the Recreation Department and the Greenbelt Arts Council, they will play both popular and classical favorites, including Renaissance, Dixieland jazz, showtunes and big band numbers. Again, those attending are asked to bring their own chairs or blankets.

Other events listed for the three-day celebration will be a family swim at the pool, with musical background, on Friday evening; a ride-a-bike fundraiser to benefit the County Association of Retarded Citizens between 8:30 and 1:30 p.m. Saturday; and the 55th anniversary Volksmarch between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m., also on Saturday.

See this week's Recreation Department ad for more details.

Funds for a Strange Breed

Firefighters are a strange breed. Most of us have better sense than to expose ourselves to the dangers they face, or to go out of our way to save lives or to undertake the demanding physical labor that they do under the most trying conditions. It's a dirty job, but somebody has to do it. Somebody has to go out there and provide first aid, transport the injured and sick to the hospitals, and put out the fires.

We respect those who do become firefighters and rescue squad workers and feel somewhat guilty that we have too much good sense to take on these important jobs helping others. Once again we have a way to assuage our guilt. We can donate to the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire and Rescue Squad annual fund drive.

Although Prince Georges County provides financial assistance to fire departments and employs paid personnel to supplement volunteers, fire and rescue services still are very dependent on the many men and women who volunteer their time to do these essential jobs. We salute these volunteers and particularly those who serve Greenbelt.

We ask that you also pay tribute to them by placing your donation in the fund request envelope that you should have received in the mail. If you haven't, you can send your tax deductible contribution to P.O. Box 35, Greenbelt. Funds will be used to buy equipment.

And, if you should know any young men or women who do not have the sense that we do and would like to help others by fighting fires and rescuing injured persons, tell them that the Greenbelt Department is really in need of more volunteers and would be happy to see them down at the firehouse on Crescent Rd.

Close the Roads

I would like to respond to Jean Snyder's letter (News Review May 14) urging the closing of Soil Conservation Road from dusk to dawn to prevent wildlife from being slaughtered after dark by vehicular traffic. I agree. Thanks largely to the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center (BARC), this "greenbelt" area is teeming with wildlife. Unfortunately, the carnage isn't confined to Soil Conservation Road.

Several years ago, about 10 p.m., I came upon a deer which had been struck by a motor vehicle on Edmonston Road and abandoned in the middle of the street. As I approached the section of road where it lay, I saw an oncoming car swerve wildly into my lane and then back. Thankfully the driver in back of me noticed it too. Suddenly the deer tried to get up; twice it fell and then surprisingly galloped off into the field where the courthouse is now being built. I was saddened to think someone had injured it and not stopped to shield it from further harm.

On a lighter note, one day as I drove up Research Road, I saw what looked like a tree limb in the street. I straddled the car wheels over it. After passing it, a check into my rear view mirror revealed the "limb" quickly wriggling to safety. And just a couple weeks ago, I was driving to work on Cherrywood Lane in the morning when I spied a small object in the road on the bridge. A ground hog (I think) stood up on its hind legs and looked around. It was adorable with big round eyes, totally oblivious to rush hour. Then it disappeared. Seconds later a car raced past us in the lane where the ground hog had just come out "to visit us."

I am sure a lot of Greenbelt residents have stories of close encounters more exciting than mine. My point is that we all need to be reminded when driving that this area is, indeed, a wildlife refuge. The least we can do is educate passers-through with signs and enforce reduced speed limits. Because BARC has become a convenient short cut for a lot of motorists, we urgently need to ask that Soil Conservation Road be closed at dusk to allow the wild animals to roam freely.

In conjunction with the road closing, I would like to see a few large, colorful signs (billboard size) erected at strategic points around Greenbelt informing everyone that this area is a wildlife habitat. I vote for Bambi and Thumper and company to be pictured. I don't know about you, but I loved Smokey the Bear when I was a child, and he taught me well. And to this day I can't bring myself to kill a lightning bug, because I think of Tinkerbell.

I am thankful to God for the privilege of living next to woods and an expansive farm. It enriches me daily.

Jean Lombardo

Missed the Point

I appreciate having the goals of the Miss Greenbelt Pageant enunciated by members of the Labor Day Committee. Let me reassure them that it has not been my intention to decry the efforts of pageant organizers or participants in assembling the Labor Day Parade or other activities.

However, judging by their response, I obviously haven't made clear my concerns on this issue. Perhaps it will help to share my own personal situation: I am currently in a Master's Degree Program at the University of Maryland. At no time is my "personal appearance," "poise," "presentation" or "personality" considered relevant in the least. What counts is whether I can solve physics problems.

What I said in my original letter is that women are judged primarily by their appearance. The writers confirm this by defining female achievement almost exclusively in terms of externalities, of image. The existence of inner qualities of substance and ideas—things that cannot be judged by the criteria the writers would apply to their Miss Greenbelt contestants—has not even been recognized.

As a child I was fortunate that I had a strong female role model, my mother, who is a mathematics educator. She has never bought into the traditional value system that judges women mainly by externalities like those listed by the Labor Day Committee. She has always believed and demonstrated that women have brains and should be just as proud to use them as men.

Finally, I must say that I find it incredible that the writers would insist it is "not a beauty pageant," when the very first criterion they list is "personal appearance." Certainly we have made progress since the elimination of the swimsuit competition, but I promise you that at the Miss Greenbelt crowning the audience is not looking at the contestants' ability to do calculus.

If the pageant is not primarily about female appearance, why isn't it open to young men? But I doubt there are many young men out there who wish to be judged primarily by their "personal appearance," "poise," "presentation" and "personality" (and by the way, just which kind of "personality" is the preferred one here?)

Since I am apparently not going to convince the Labor Day Committee to drop the Miss Greenbelt Pageant, I will end with an appeal to Greenbelt parents: please, parents, let your daughter know that there is more to life than how she "presents herself." Do her a favor by discouraging her from entering a contest based primarily on appearances.

Ruth Kastner

Thanks

A sincere thank you to all who voted for me for the Board of Directors of GHI. Feel free to call me (345-2032) with your concerns. Thanks!

Meat Contests

Ruth Kastner's letter about the Miss Greenbelt Pageant is quite correct.

It is true that the Miss Greenbelt contest and other "queen" contests have been reformed, but this was done in response to protests. It is good to know that the swimsuit competition was dropped 10 years ago. This makes the beauty contest less of a meat-market. However, all queen contests, including Miss America and Miss Universe, are essentially meat contests.

The fact that public speaking and performance on stage are judged as well as looks is fine but it still leaves the competition degrading and demeaning not just to young women but to all of us.

Arts Center's "Goldilocks" Features Area Children

by Sandy Smith

"The Trial of Goldilocks" is the annual children's production presented by the Greenbelt Arts Center. A cast of 33 Greenbelt and area children present this old tale with a new twist in two Greenbelt Day performances, June 6 and 7, 2 p.m. at Center School.

This new version of "The Three Bears" gives Goldilocks a chance to tell her side of the story. It features good and bad bears and a variety of goldilocks who try to convince the jury and the audience. A final performance of the play will be given on the Center Stage at Beltway Plaza, Saturday, June 13, at 2 p.m.

The play is directed by Virginia Zanner who involves the children and teens in all aspects of the production — technical as well as dramatic roles. Performers in last year's children's production are now performing in other Arts Center plays. Zanner says everyone is having a good time, learning about the theater and putting on a really good show.

Characters

There are three Goldilocks in the play. Playing "the brat" Goldilocks is Abby Logsdon, Center School; Kerry O'Neill, Thomas G. Pullen, plays the Good Goldi; and Kateri Hull, Glen Arden Woods, is the Real Goldi. Dana Kaplan who attends Green Acres School is cast in the role of Mama Bear. Teresa Healey-Conway, St. Jerome's, is a member of the Jury. Also on the Jury are Brianna Cayo-Cotter, University Park Elementary; Emily Miller, Sandy Springs Friends School; Lori Fogle, Crofton Middle; Lauren Minor, Greenbelt Center; Quinn Breece, Magnolia; Suzanne Taylor, St. Mathias; Lizzie Withers, Friends Community School; Jeremiah Voigt, Greenbelt Center; Michele Claire, Pullen; Shaun Plum, Grace Christian School; Debra Petros, Eleanor Roosevelt; Emily Wertz, Parkdale; Trina Fisher, Holy Trinity; Laura Childers, High Point; and Giselle Hendy, Pullen.

Licia Spinelli, Eleanor Roosevelt, is the Defense Attorney. Sarah Stricklin is the "Baaad Mama Bear." She's a student at Greenbelt Middle School. Eric Silverman who attends Greenbelt Center School is the "Nice Papa Bear." Jessica Wacker plays Baby 1; she goes to Pasadena. Carla Zamudio is cast as the "Nice Baby;" she's a student at Center School. Pamela Gutman who attends Oakcrest is cast as the "Bad Baby." Jordan Wigdor attends Stonegate Elementary School and will be the clerk in the play. Elizabeth Labukas holds plaque honoring her mother, Eileen Labukas, which was presented by the City Council to the Labukas family. With Elizabeth are her father, Peter and her sister Kathy. —Recreation Department photo

Plaque Honors Eileen Labukas

A memorial plaque in honor of Eileen Mudd Labukas for her outstanding contributions and support to the City's recreation programs and for her active volunteerism for the annual Ride-A-Bike was presented to the Labukas family at the May 26 Council meeting.

Mrs. Labukas was Greenbelt's "First Lady of Recreation." She was Recreation Director from October 1947 to February 1948. In April 1948, under the Recreation Department, she was the first city appointed director of the teen Drop-Inn programs. She was one of the many residents who was instrumental in seeing that the Youth Center, the first Community Center in Prince Georges County, was constructed. It was due to her efforts and volunteering that the Annual Ride-A-Bike fund raiser began in Greenbelt, 20 years ago.

The memorial plaque, to be permanently displayed in the Youth Center, contains the following quotation:
"Who so teaches a child to play
And be happy in this world—
Labors and lives with God
In His garden playground forever."

Festival Notes

Miss Greenbelt

Broadway is the theme for this year's Miss Greenbelt Pageant, a traditional activity in the annual Labor Day Festival. Greenbelt girls ages 14-19 are invited to participate in the pageant which provides an opportunity for a fun-filled, interesting summer. The pageant runs throughout the Labor Day weekend, opening with a production number, produced and arranged by the contestants, which highlights the theme. Contestants are judged on a personal interview, public speaking, participation and an evening gown presentation on the final night of the pageant. Girls participate in a talent show which provides entertainment during the pageant but is not a part of the official judging. Throughout the summer the contestants meet for community activities, organizing meetings, learning experiences and social activities. Many past participants consider the friends they've made and opportunities for new experiences to be the key benefits from the pageant. The first orientation meeting will be held soon. Those interested should call Natasha Chavrid-Jewell at 345-0929 for more information or to register.

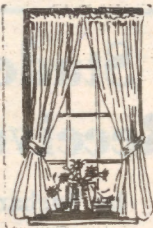

Parade

Parade organizers Tony Fomina (474-1274) and Cheri Gainor (317-9943) are seeking marching units, floats, bands, entertainment groups, and others to appear in the annual Labor Day parade. They hope to have old favorites returning and new groups in this year's parade. Call them for more information, with suggestions, or leads on likely prospects.

Babysitting Course

Greenbelt CARES will offer the summer semester free babysitting course on Tuesday morning, June 23 from 9 a.m.-noon, during the first week of the summer vacation.

The course will meet in the first floor conference room of the Municipal Building, 25 Crescent Road. The course is free and

There and Here

I have often wondered how the other half lives - those Greenbelters in the developments across the BW Parkway. I have some idea now that I have a new friend who lives there. I live here, on this "old" side of the great divide in my almost 50 year old townhouse; she lives on the "new" side in her five year old townhouse. Until I met Margaret I had never heard of Emily's Way. Likewise, she wasn't sure where Ridge Road was the day she came over for lunch. Getting to know each other's half of the city has become something of an adventure.

Old or new, similarities abound: Margaret lives in the last townhouse in her row, like I do. She has a playground within walking distance, like I do. Her house is larger and filled with more daylight than mine, but, just like me, she parks right out front parallel with her neighbors. While Margaret is shopping at the Safeway where the employees know her children by name, I am pushing my cart of kids and food around the Co-op where employees and shoppers are like family to me. With dry cleaners, restaurants, doctors and lawyers offices, banks and gas stations so close to each of our homes, we easily stay on our sides of the Parkway.

Our lives seemed like a tale of two cities, with the BW Parkway taking on the dividing aspects of the English Channel. But during lunch our conversation revealed how often we migrated to each other's side. For Margaret, the post office, movie theater, indoor pool and library are on my side. For me, the drug store, book store, high school and my hairdresser are on her side. Over dessert we proposed regular forays into each other's turf so that our children could play together. And now there is our friendship to encourage our crossing over.

Oh yes, by the way, Margaret, why not come to the museum - it's over here!

MAGGIE ANDERS WINS STATE SCHOLARSHIP

Discover Card Services, Inc. has announced that Magdalena (Maggie) Anders of Greenbelt was named as Maryland's winner of the $500 bronze medal Discover Card Tribute Award scholarship in the arts and humanities category. Maggie is a student at Eleanor Roosevelt High School; she is one of six high school juniors in Maryland to win a Tribute Award scholarship. The Tribute Award scholarships, given in cooperation with the American Association of School Administrators (AASA) are awarded to outstanding juniors on both the state and national levels in the U.S. and American schools abroad.

When Maggie started school, she spoke only Polish. Within a year, she mastered English and became a top student in her class. She recently appeared in a production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and continues to learn American culture by working with children at a day camp. In addition, she is a staff member of the News Review, where she helps with lay-out. Maggie visited her native Poland last year and worked as an assistant to the Voice of America. She plans to go on to college and study communication and political science.

The Discover Card Tribute Award scholarships reward students who maintain a minimum of 2.75 grade point average and demonstrate accomplishment in four of the five following areas: leadership, obstacles overcome, unique endeavors, special talents, and community service.

State winners were chosen by a panel of judges who based their decisions on information from nomination forms submitted by each student. Judges represent area communities as well as the state's education and business sectors.

State Tribute Award recipients win gold ($2,500), silver ($1,250) or bronze ($500) awards in three categories: vocational or technical studies; arts and humanities; or other studies at degree conferring institutions. Gold award winners in each state compete for nine national scholarships (three $20,000; three $15,000; and three $10,000) in the same three categories. Awards will be presented at a June ceremony in Washington, D.C.

Nat Shinderman presents $1,350 scholarship award to Kathleen A. Dolan at Eleanor Roosevelt High School's annual awards ceremony May 20.

Roosevelt Seniors Win For Writing about Co-ops

Three Eleanor Roosevelt High School seniors have won awards for writing essays on co-op businesses. At Roosevelt's award ceremony May 20, Kathleen A. Dolan received a $1,350 scholarship for her first-place entry.

Leena M. Sumitra received a second place award and Mindy Steward earned "Honorable Mention."

The contest was sponsored by Greenbelt Homes Incorporated (GHI), a housing co-op, in cooperation with Greenbelt Consumer Co-op, which includes a grocery store, pharmacy, and gas station.

Dolan will be a pre-med student at the University of Notre Dame. Her guidance counselor, Anthony Coyle, said, "Kathleen has maintained a 3.93 grade average in our demanding Science and Technology Center program. She is a National Honor Society member and a Maryland Distinguished Scholar finalist. She participates in choral programs and music theater productions. She has had leadership roles in the Jr. Civitan organization, including attendance at summer conventions throughout the country." Dolan also did volunteer work for Center School's After School Program.

Ron Colton, GHI manager, said, "A scholarship will be given each year to a graduating senior at Roosevelt to help with college expenses. The award program, begun this year, has been named the Charles F. Schwan, Jr., Memorial Scholarship award to honor former GHI president and city councilman Charles Schwan."

Nat Shinderman, a contemporary of Schwan's and also a former GHI president, presented the awards.

The Schwan scholarship is a local award for a national contest offered by the National Cooperative Bank in Washington, D.C. which has also issued a certificate of commendation to Eleanor Roosevelt High School for its participation in the 1992 Judy A. Murphy Memorial Scholarship competition.

Teacher & Student 'Heroines' at SHL

Kathleen Ann Graham, a fifth grade student at Springhill Lake Elementary School, nominated former teacher, Marsha Chappell (Kay), as her favorite Unsung Heroine in the competition sponsored by the Commission for Women. Graham's essay, presented below, was a winner. The contest celebrated Women's History Month. Kathleen was selected to read aloud her story at the awards ceremony; the reading was later broadcast over cable television. This is her prize winning essay:

My heroine is a third grade teacher at Springhill Lake Elementary. Her name is Mrs. Chappell. Mrs. Chappell was my third grade teacher. Every day she does something special. Mrs. Chappell comforts people who need a little love and pushes people who aren't doing their best. From learning multiplication to cursive, she makes everything fun. Doing cursive she made funny comments about the letters and in multiplication we made tables and did raps to help us remember them. Mrs. Chappell helped me by being nice to me and making me realize I am somebody special and not just "that kid in the third row." She still continues to make people happy. Mrs. Chappell remembers everyone in her old classes. I am in fifth grade now and I still go see her in my spare time. Mrs. Chappell is a very special person to anybody who knows her well.

New Pesticide Law Requires Lawn Signs

A new county "Lawn Pesticides Law" goes into effect on July 1 requires anyone applying pesticides on public or private property to post caution signs at least 24 hours in advance.

The use of pesticides to control common pest of lawns, gardens, and other areas is widespread. However, pesticides may be harmful if eaten, inhaled, or if they have any contact with the skin of humans and pets.

Pesticides are any chemicals used to control or kill weeds, insects, rodents, snails, worms, fungi or other pests. Lawn fertilizers are excluded and can be used without posting signs.

The County Health Department will begin enforcing this law on July 1. There is a $50.00 fine for failure to comply with this law.

For questions or to request copies of printed information, please call the Prince Georges County Health Department, Division of Air Quality Control, at (301) 794-6800 weekdays between 7:30 a.m. and 4 p.m.

New Law Taxes Snacks

The second phase of tax changes enacted by the General Assembly in April began June 1. Specific snack and prepared foods are now taxable, departing from a tradition that exempted food purchased in grocery stores since 1947.

Consumers visiting the snack aisle will find Maryland's 5% sales tax added to their bills for purchases of potato chips and sticks, pretzels, corn chips, cheese puffs and curls, pork rinds, popped popcorn, nuts and edible seeds and mixtures of these products. The tax applies regardless of the size package purchased, but only to the specific snack items noted.

At the grocery store's salad bar, salads, desserts and soups became taxable. At the grocery store's deli, party platters, heated food and sandwiches suitable for immediate consumption also became taxable.

In the frozen food aisle, frozen desserts such as ice cream and frozen yogurt become taxable if they are sold in containers of less than one pint. While the family size half-gallon of ice cream remains exempt, purchases of a single ice cream sandwich, for example, will be taxable. A box of a dozen ice cream sandwiches containing a pint of ice cream, however, will be exempt.

Many of the food items which become taxable in grocery stores June 1 have been taxable if purchased in other types of carry-out locations. The General Assembly sought to apply the tax more consistently.

City Council Moves Forward With Code Enforcement

by Daniel G. Hobbs

At its May 4, work session, the City Council agreed to move forward with the city's assuming the code enforcement responsibilities from Prince Georges County. Staff will be preparing an ordinance based on the current Prince Georges County law for discussion in June. This means that the city, instead of the county, will be enforcing the same law that is currently in effect. After six to twelve months of experience with the new enforcement program, the Council will review the ordinance for areas that need stronger or clearer provisions.

Greenbelt possesses a 55-year legacy of being a quality, planned community. A good code enforcement program is critical to insuring that all neighborhoods remain attractive, safe and livable.

The Council has discussed for several years the possibility of taking over the code enforcement responsibility from the county government. Why is this an important area? Greenbelt's housing stock is growing older. Seventy-two percent of all of the housing units are over 20 years old. These are the units at greatest risk of deterioration because of the increased requirements for upkeep.

Renter Occupancies

Greenbelt has another challenge. Over 50% of all housing units in the city are renter occupied. It is unfortunate, but generally true, that it is these units that would first suffer from pool maintenance and would be more likely to decline in quality. The city must make sure that it is able to hold absentee property owners to the same standards of maintenance that resident owners proudly and voluntarily uphold.

Under a city code enforcement program, there would also be greater control over the quality of commercial property. The community should expect all of the commercial areas in the city to reflect well on Greenbelt.

The timing for this program couldn't be better. The county government is downsizing and reducing its manpower drastically. The city has been informed that starting this spring, field inspectors will not be available to perform their routine enforcement duties in Greenbelt.

If city hall and the community strongly support this program in a partnership, then the city will achieve its objective of protecting the Greenbelt legacy. Strong community support is vital.

The program will be entirely self-supporting. There will be no tax increase to underwrite it. The city will receive the fees that now go to the county.

The timetable calls for review and discussion of the draft ordinance this summer. A public hearing will be scheduled for late summer or early fall. Staff anticipates the program to be operational by January 1, 1993.

GHI Elects Officers

The Greenbelt Homes, Inc. Board of Directors met on Thursday, May 28. Ray McCawie was elected as the corporation's new president and Al Freas as the new vice-president. Treasurer Chuck Hess and secretary Betty Deitch were returned to their offices.

Greenbelt Sailor Heads Galley

by Carole J. Ancelin

The thought of feeding 250 people three meals a day doesn't sound appealing to most of us, but Mess Services Chief Joseph Donellan, a native of Greenbelt and leading mess management specialist for the Naval Air Warfare Center Aircraft Division Lakehurst Galley, Lakehurst, New Jersey, does just that, seven days a week, 52 weeks a year.

Donellan and his team of 15 military and 19 civilians serve the "three squares" available to every military member and base civilians who wish to partake. They also cater cakes for retirements, change of commands and other military functions.

The old image of the military cook is a far cry from today's mess specialist educated in the basics of nutrition, sanitation, kitchen measurements and attractive food service.

"The 'A' school in the Mess Service is a lot like high school home economics," said Donellan. "I still use skills I learned there."

Donellan has worked on some unique catering projects, providing formal service for overseas VIPs under the direction of a division officer he called a "real gourmet cook."

Donellan has been in the Navy 12 years.

Permits for Cash Lake Angling Now Available

The Patuxent Wildlife Research Center will permit public fishing at the Cash Lake fishing area beginning June 15. Cash Lake is located along Route 197 south of Laurel. The new fishing pier at this U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service facility is especially accessible to individuals with disabilities. Persons with disabilities are encouraged to contact the Research Center at 498-0342 for special permit accommodations.

Day permits are required and applications are now being accepted. The free permits will allow the holder and another licensed angler, or up to two accompanying children under 16 years old, to fish for bass, pickerel, sunfish and catfish.

To apply for a permit, angler must be at least 18 years of age and licensed to fish in Maryland. The application must be by letter only and include name, address, phone number (including area code), and dates for which permits are desired. Applications should be received at least two weeks prior to requested fishing days.

Applications should be sent to Fishing Program, Patuxent Wildlife Center, Laurel, Md. 20708. A total of 25 permits will be issued for each day. If necessary, a random drawing will be held to allocate permits. Successful applicants will be notified of the date or dates for which they have been selected, and will receive their permit along with a location map and regulations. Call 498-0342 for more info.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, FLAG DAY, June 14, 1992, is the one occasion during the year when all Americans should pause for a moment to say, with one voice and as one proud people, the thirty-one words of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America; and

WHEREAS, of all the signs and symbols that have existed since this country declared its independence in 1776, none is so full of meaning as our flag; and

WHEREAS, many flags in this world represent a glorious past while our represents both the past, the present and the future - ours is not the flag of our fathers any more than it is the flag of our children, and of our children's children yet unborn. Our flag is the flag of yesterday, today and tomorrow.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Gil Weidenfeld, Mayor of the City of Greenbelt Maryland, by authority vested in me by the Council and the citizens of Greenbelt, hereby issue this proclamation in honor of:

We pledge allegiance to a flag that represents the highest ideals of individual liberty, justice and equal opportunity for all, and hereby acknowledge our responsibility to further and maintain these ideals.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the City of Greenbelt, Maryland to be affixed this 8th day of June, 1992.

GIL WEIDENFELD, Mayor

Budget Adopted by Council

discovered that the county was not crediting Greenbelt with the Greenspring subdivision. However, because an unusually large number of property owners, including all large commercial property owners, are appealing their assessment increases, Hobbs set aside $66,500 as an allowance for any assessment reductions. Business and income taxes were down a combined total of $66,000, while cable television franchise fees are now expected to bring in $2,000 more than originally estimated.

Several actions taken by the state government in solving its budget crisis will increase city revenues. The city's share of the recent increase in the state gas tax is estimated at $40,000. The state also found money to contribute $56,800 towards Greenbelt CARES and to contribute $37,500 in grant funds towards the hiring of a narcotics officer, although the state aid for police was reduced by $50,000.

The city council adopted its budget before the county budget was approved. However, the city expects the county government to approve an $8,500 contribution to CARES. With the county's approval of a 20% increase in the piggyback tax, Greenbelt will receive additional income tax revenue. Hobbs had received a letter from the county executive estimating that the city would receive $182,000 in additional revenue. However, at the time of budget approval, county council had not approved its budget, so the city could not be sure what it will receive.

Other revenue increases include $4,600 more in the management fee for Green Ridge House, $40,000 more from parking fines and fees resulting from the recent fine increases and $37,500 for an expected public-private partnership for two additional police officers.

Recycling Reminder

Please be aware that the contract of Prince Georges County with Waste Management calls for pick-up of recyclables to take place any time after 7 a.m. of the designated day.

In other words: recyclables have to be at the curb by 7 a.m. or in GHI, at designated areas by 7 a.m. Recently pick-up took place unexpectedly early (but after 7 a.m.) in some areas. Unfortunately, this resulted in several misses.

55th ANNIVERSARY Greenbelt Day Weekend

FRIDAY, JUNE 5TH THRU SUNDAY, JUNE 7TH

PROGRAM OF FAMILY ACTIVITIES

Sunday, June 7th marks the 55th Anniversary of Greenbelt's incorporation as a municipality. Time has proven that Greenbelt has developed into a highly successful City. Its citizenry has displayed an active interest in the promotion of civic programs and community spirit as we build toward our second 50 years.

Greenbelt Day is a time to commemorate the City's past, celebrate the present and look forward to an exciting future as a great community in which to live, work and play. A variety of special events have been planned for the weekend. The Mayor, Councilmembers and City Staff cordially invite you, your family and guests to join us — whether you spectate or participate.
